RESIDENT HARDING DISCUSSES WORLD'S NEEDS IN ADDRESS

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 19.—The time is come when there is a recognition of essential cooperation among nations, declared each of them in its own way, to the common good, the progress, the advancement of a kind," President Harding here today when he made a stop on his way to Williamsburg, to pay his respects to those soldiers of Washington, who turned the tide of revolution here at Yorktown.

Harding declared for co-operation among the nations, the pre-war world, the world of today, the world of tomorrow.

Against Sordidity
One need not picture a world reeking with sordidity, ruled over by all the big races, traditions and nationalities because it will never be, the president said. "No man who seeks to submerge his race will succeed. This race will never surrender so easily as a heritage will never be lost, the soul which impelled our fathers, attainments in the future, the progress, the advancement of a kind," the president said. "No man who seeks to submerge his race will succeed. This race will never surrender so easily as a heritage will never be lost, the soul which impelled our fathers, attainments in the future, the progress, the advancement of a kind," the president said.

Prizes Victory
The victory won at Yorktown of transcending importance to world, the president said, for mean of victory was the morning at the dawn of a new era, freedom, made secure in popular sentiment.

Consolidation
The president's speech was in the following words: "The name of Yorktown has been for Americans a significant, unlike that of any other in our annals. On this historic day, we conducted our operations in our struggle for independence and our war for national unity. A few miles away, the river, was made at stown the first permanent settlement of our race on this continent, while our historic Yorktown was one of the very earliest settlements, 140 years ago, Washington accomplished the surrender of the British, the freedom of the nation, the establishment of our independence, the assurance of this great experiment in self-government."

ATTORNEY SAYS GREEN LINE SHAKY

Straw Vote Shows Many Voters Favor Continuing Sending Students to Elyria Until Building Materials Are More Normal

Attorney F. M. Stevens, representing the Cleveland, Southwest & Columbus Ry. Co., told Judge Robinson in open court this morning that the company was on the verge of going into the hands of a receiver.

This statement was made after the company had confessed judgment in two damage cases against the Avon Duval, 15 was given judgment for $2,100 and his mother Anna Duval for $1,150 on account of personal injuries at the time when a limited car ran into a local car August 29, 1919 on the Oberlin road.

General Manager J. B. Johnson, of the Lorain County Electric Co., announced today that plans were under way which will be approved today by the directors of the company by which it will become a part of the new Ohio Public Service Co., which will also take over the electric interests at Warren, Alliance, Massillon and Lorain.

Officials in Toledo
The county commissioners are in Toledo today attending a conference of the Ohio Welfare Association. Commissioners from all over the state have been summoned to this meeting.

BOND ISSUE AT RIDGEVILLE OPPOSED

It has developed that the program outlined by County Superintendent C. S. Seale, and the Board of Education of Ridgeville township, to bond the township for the purpose of building a high school and centralizing graded school at the center, will meet with some opposition, at a meeting held at the Fields school last night after a lengthy discussion, and one member of the board who was present had been questioned, a straw vote was taken and only one vote was cast in favor of the plan.

Ridgeville is at present sending its high school pupils to Elyria and receiving the benefit of a first-grade high school, the plan is giving good satisfaction and at less expense than a school can be maintained of the same character in Ridgeville, says one of the objectors.

It is the opinion of a great majority of the taxpayers of the township, that the schools can be cared for in the present buildings until the price of building material shall have reached a lower plane, many of them are more or less familiar with the situation in Olmsted Falls and the great increase in taxes there and it does not appear to them to vote any greater burden upon themselves than they are able to bear.

The school question is coming up in a special election this fall, the date of which has not been announced.

Members of the board of education are to be voted on at the regular election. There are seven candidates, three to be elected.

At the meeting last night a committee was appointed to make an investigation of school conditions in other places and report at a public meeting to be held in the near future.

CLEVELAND WOMAN IS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

The police of this city were asked last evening to be on the look out for a large Apperson car carrying a camping outfit which had struck a woman at Townsend near Norwalk and killed her. The car was not observed passing through this city.

Word from Townsend states that the victim of the accident was from Cleveland, and was riding in a car that was thrown into a ditch when sideswiped by the Apperson car which was rapidly driven away.

She died soon after and her body was taken to Norwalk, or Monroeville from whence it was to be taken to Cleveland. Her name could not be learned.

Fake Legion Man Canvasses City

The police received a report that a man had been canvassing on Boston avenue and other points on the west side claiming to be an American Legion man, and who was soliciting $1 contributions to be used in helping secure a soldier's bonus. The man got away before he could be apprehended.

Other complaints of a similar nature have been made to George Robinson, adjutant of the local Legion Post. He said such action is entirely unauthorized, and that the man or men are frauds. If any such attempt is made to collect funds the police should be notified.

CAPTURE MAN IN CHILD'S MURDER

VINELAND, N. J., Oct. 19.—Louis Lively, colored, sought by police on a charge of murdering Matilda Russo, in Moorestown, N. J., was captured here today after a revolver fight in which he shot Patrolman Asa Wilson 3 times. It is believed the patrolman's wounds will be fatal.

Matilda Russo disappeared June 4, and six days later her body was found buried beneath the floor of Lively's home. Lively had disappeared.

Police said Lively confessed having murdered the girl, saying, "I killed her and don't care how quick you kill me."

Patrolman Wilson received three shots from the revolver which Lively drew when Wilson recognized him.

CLEVELAND CROOKS STAND TRIAL HERE

Sheriff Backus went to Cleveland yesterday and returned with Frank Shipire and Ed Goldstein, the man in whose possession burglar tools were found when they were arrested on the Youngberg farm, Carlisle, last Sunday. Cleveland officers took them there but decided to turn them back to the Lorain county officials. They will have a hearing before Justice George this afternoon. Shipire has a long record of arrests back him, and it is considered that a good catch has been made.

FORECLOSURE PROCEEDINGS
F and Irene Bahmor began foreclosure proceedings today against Ernest and Bertha Miller. They state they sold a house to the Millers and that there is now due $5,027.53.

SCHOOL BOARD TO ELIMINATE FIRE HAZARDS

The board of education held a special meeting at the office of F. M. Stevens yesterday afternoon and discussed the reports made by the fire inspectors as to the condition of the various buildings.

It was reported by Supervisor of Buildings Wilmoth that nearly all of the recommends had already been complied with. However, it was ordered that the Hamilton building be supplied with new hose and that the fire escapes on various buildings be properly cared for.

Fire Chief Bates is giving advice as to what should be done, will have a man from Cleveland here in a few days for suggestions.

The Washington building, that was given so much criticism, is being cared for and will soon be in good condition as it can be made. The board discussed the Washington building and Superintendent Shelton called attention to the board's report on the building at the time when the bond issue was asked for. At that time the board stated that it should be put in a more sanitary condition by thorough renovation or reconstruction should take place. The board had planned to remodel this building in its building program. It is now being placed in as good condition as possible.

The board also plans to dispose of a lot of junk that has accumulated if a way can be found to do so. There are two steam pumps, a shower bath, a bath tub, doors, partitions, and other articles for which there is no longer a use. A quantity of extra seats will be placed in condition for future use. The board also agreed to have the extinguishers placed in each building in the city.

ALLIED UNIONS, LABOR BOARDS, RAIL EXECUTIVES AND "BIG 4" GATHER TO DECIDE BIG ISSUE

BOYS UNDER 15 YEARS OF AGE TO COMPETE IN BIG PARK FISHING SATURDAY

Boys, get your fishing tackle ready. There are sixty catfish, two good sized black bass and four rock bass in the fountain in the park and these will belong to the boys who are under fifteen years of age who can catch them with a hook and line. No other device will be permitted.

The Park Commission has set 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning as the starting time and the permission for the boys to fish will continue (except on Sundays) until all of the fish in the fountain have been caught.

It must be noted that this privilege is only for those who are under fifteen years of age. Also, so as not to hamper the boys at the fountain, all grown-ups are requested to keep back far enough so that the fishermen will have plenty of room to operate in. The Park Commission will not guarantee that the fish will bite in any great hurry as the water is now quite cold and it may take some little skill and knowledge in the choice of bait to land the prizes; however, they are there, they have been well fed during the summer and they will make delicious meals for the lucky ones.

Remember the starting hour, 9:00 o'clock in the morning, Saturday.

MILK DEALERS MEET TONIGHT

The Lorain County Milk Dealers' Association will hold a meeting at the court house this evening. President H. W. Ingersoll states that it is called to discuss grievances. Asked if it would affect the price of milk, he stated no, that no chance could be made in the middle of a month.

CASE SETTLED
The case of O. F. Hageman against Kline Brothers that was placed on trial to a jury yesterday, was settled last evening and this morning it was dropped from the docket.

G. M. NYE APPEALS TRAFFIC CONVICTION TO SUPREME COURT

G. M. Nye, of this city convicted in police court October 5, of violating the city's motor vehicle ordinance has taken the case up on error to the court of common pleas.

Nye was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Jones.

It was alleged that Nye backed his automobile into an automobile owned by Frank Rudolph damaging the fender and wheel. He denied that he was guilty of carelessness and in spite of the smallness of the fine has carried the case up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—Strike action by the 1,500,000 railroad workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor now awaits the outcome of the peace conference of the railroad labor board with the "big four" brotherhoods.

The federation railroad union will go ahead and formulate its policy to be followed but will defer action, leaders announced today until the brotherhoods determine whether they will carry out their strike program.

The A. F. of L. leaders believe the danger of a general strike has vanished. In their opinion the brotherhood chiefs will accept the compromise plan offered by the labor board. All along they have privately expressed the opinion that the brotherhood's action was more "bluff" than anything else and the "big four" chiefs were merely waiting for an opportunity to crawl out of the situation in the most graceful way possible.

Two hundred chairmen and vice-presidents of the United Brotherhood of Shop Laborers and Maintenance of Way Employees, representing 300,000 men and officers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, representing 400,000 men, began meeting here today to make final decisions as to whether to join the strike or file for arbitration.

Part of the six shopkeepers are also meeting and will have a full conference Saturday. The Order of Railroad Telegraphers and other unions in the American Federation of Labor will begin conferences tomorrow. The executives of all the federation unions will meet Sunday when the decisions of each union will be presented and final policies formulated. Whatever action is taken will have united support of all the unions.

Proposal of a platform on which final settlement might be reached, this platform to include the following points:

(a) Withdrawal for a definite period of the proposed request for the road for the further 10 percent wage reduction.

(b) Immediate reduction of freight rates by the roads.

The completion of this platform was believed certain today, it would avert the present strike and it would put a halt to contemplated wage reductions. The strike would be taken by the rail unions which rely on the question of wage cuts. This settlement would not, however, adjust other points in dispute between the roads and their employees.

Indicted Man Is Parole Violator

William McTavish, picked up by the marshal of Oberlin, and indicted on a charge of car robbery by the grand jury, is wanted at the Michigan State penitentiary.

What place do you feel should hold in the community? How do you stand upon the matter of teachers' salaries? How do you stand upon the matter of the relative salaries of men and women doing the same work? What is your feeling about the matter of change in textbooks and other supplies from year to year? What is your attitude toward the school grounds? What is your attitude toward school athletics and sports? Do you promote strict enforcement of the law by the power of the state not only by the appointment of a county superintendent, but also in providing for transportation, over personal and other matters?

Women Send Questionnaire to Township and School Board Candidates

Executive Board of the Women Voters, through chairman, Mrs. H. C. Stevens, are sending out today questionnaires to the Democratic and Non-partisan candidates names will appear upon the November 8th. These include three groups, the Judicial for the Justice of the Peace, School ticket for members of Ed and county Boards of Education and the candidates for judicial offices presented by the courts.

Treats All Fair
Stevens stated today "while election in this section of the county is always felt to have been at the Republican primaries, the men who come out victors there are said to be invariably elected in November, the use of Women Voters as a non-partisan body has only come in practice, that of only treat treatment for all candidates, whatever the personal judgments and sympathies of any individual members of the organization may be.

"To present information to the public, and to arouse an active and genuine interest in the important matter of the selection of our public officers, are the objects which it is hoped to attain thru the sending out of the questionnaires. In order that no precedent may be established of immunity to this request for a statement of policy and intention from each candidate, questionnaires have been sent this year to every candidate, even in cases where there is no opposition.

Consider Past Record
"In cases where the candidate has already gone on record in any matter, either by action or statement, this past record of course must be considered, and carried more weight than any statement at this time. The value of the statement in such a case would lie simply in the establishment of a policy to which the candidate if elected, might be called to account in the future.

"A tabulation of the returns will be given, and a resume also of the returns from the Republican candidates, chosen at the primaries in August.

Township Trustees
First 4 questions the same in all; date and place of birth; residence in Elyria; education and business experience; public offices held with date.

For Township Trustee
5. State your position in regard to road work program. Do you favor better drainage, better roads and incidentally more abundant crops for which good drainage is the basis?

6. State your position in regard to ditches that come under your jurisdiction and whether you will co-operate with the county commissioners in making needed improvements for your township?

7. State what may be expected of you in keeping down township expenses, so that you may have a reasonable tax rate?

8. Will you be kind and considerate of those in need?

Assessor of Elyria
9. Will you fairly and impartially assess the personal property in your ward?

10. Will you place on the real estate duplicate a fair value on all new buildings or additions so that every one may bear his just share of city, county and state taxes?

Justice of the Peace
11. Will you observe from the duties of Justice of the Peace that they are those of the lowest court in our state and are very close to the people. They call for prompt decision, honesty, fairness, and good judgment. Laws are the rules of conduct for the community and courts are the agencies charged with the function of enforcing the laws. Can you fairly and without prejudice try the following cases?

1. Abandonment and ill-treatment of children by parents or guardians?

2. Cruelty to dumb animals.

3. Violation of the liquor law. State your attitude upon repeated violations of such laws.

4. Violation of the pure food and drug laws? Sanitary conditions of bakeries and confectioneries? Do you promise your support and cooperation to organizations working to improve conditions in such places?

5. Violations of the auto and truck laws, for the safety of the people and the maintenance of the streets and roads in this county and city?

Are you willing to act as a peace-maker, settling petty quarrels and by sound advice discouraging litigation?

Are you willing to enforce strictly the laws relative to the employment of minors?

Are you in favor of the forty-eight hour law for the employment of women and are you willing to enforce the same?

9. In times of depress on such as these are you willing to deal fairly and help those who are brought before you for attachment of wages for debt? (To be added to Q for Constables)

10. Do you agree to conscientiously and impartially investigate, follow up and make arrests when necessary in cases of alleged immorality?

School Board Candidates (County and City)

1-4 as in all.

5. Are you in favor of a building program which will keep abreast of the necessary expansion in the public schools of Elyria and Lorain County?

6. Do you consider that under the present conditions and possibly still greater congestion another year, that running double sessions offers any adequate relief, or would such a solution be according to your opinion, ill-advised?

7. How do you feel about the possibility of cutting down a certain amount of expense in erecting school buildings by the elimination of detail trimming on the exterior of the buildings?

8. Would you ever recommend double sessions or would you favor the use of temporary quarters for the overflow?

9. What is your attitude upon the use of the school buildings for purposes other than school?

PEACE ENTS ARE LIVING HIGH

FRANKS, Va., Oct. 19.—The students of America in the last living and high among his kind. This morning he spoke here at the inauguration of Dr. J. A. ... as president of William ... College.

President Harding came here ... where earlier in ... he delivered an address at ... celebration of the 140th anniversary of the surrender of Cornwallis.

The President also made a plea for more and better teachers in the colleges and for greater generosity in their salaries.

He said the country was facing an "educational crisis" and added "I would lift up a Macedonian in behalf of our schools" and urged to men and women who feel the urge of public usefulness.

The President said he was not ... that the young people are living up to the full estimate of an education's worth and continued "I doubt if there is a much of ... in academic studies as there was once ... might well be now. Among the ... have known who 'worked' the ultimate valuations of their careers have seemed to warrant impression that education which comes through its possessor is worth several times as much as education that is merely come high to sacrificing ... and struggling parents."

He said that if professors were brought into contact with more ... that their students were making sacrifices corresponding to their own. "It might be an incentive to them to continue their labor, but that they were often discouraged by finding that their salaries were several times less than ... money of students."

DOCTORS BATTLE TO SAVE SEVEN SICK NURSES

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Physicians are fighting today to save the lives of seven nurses of the West End hospital who were critically ill as a result of eating poisoned candy sent to Miss Rosefeld a nurse. It was sent anonymously, Miss Rosefeld herself partook of it and gave some to Miss Theresa Lefe, Miss Grace Breakstone, Miss Alma Derr, Miss Helen Leslie, Miss Anna Kuhl, and Miss Daisy Casey who changed to be with her in the recreation room of the hospital when the candy was received.

Attending physicians said today that the stricken nurses have a chance for recovery although their condition is critical.

Analysis of the candy showed according to chemists that the box of candy contained enough of the poison to have killed scores of persons.

Several men who are known to have been acquaintances of Miss Rosefeld are under surveillance by the police. Several have been questioned, among these are William and Benjamin Zimmermann, brothers, and acknowledged rivals for the affections of the nurse.

Court of Appeals Here November 14

The Court of Appeals is to meet this city on November 14, instead of October 18, as previously stated. Word to that effect has been received by County Clerk Williams.

GERMAN PEACE PACT RATIFIED IN NIGHT MEET

Completes Administration's Peace Plans—Borah and LaFollette Attack Adoption

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Ratification of the German peace treaty, the last technical step necessary in ending the war, brought sharply to the fore today the question of ratifying an American ambassador to Berlin.

The designation of an ambassador will be the next and final step in resuming the relations with Germany that were broken off by the recall of Ambassador Gerard on February 3, 1917.

The choice of President Harding has narrowed down to two men according to information from well informed sources today. They are Colonel William Boyce Thompson of Yonkers, N. Y. Representative Alanson B. Houghton of Corning, N. Y.

SINN FEINERS CONFER ON FINANCES

LONDON, Oct. 19

A committee from the Sinn Fein delegation to the Irish peace conference conferred today with Sir Robert Horne, financial problems. Sir Robert is chancellor of the exchequer in the British cabinet.

Mention of a republic or Ireland has not yet been injected into the discussions of the peace party by either side it is learned.

While Sir James Craig, premier of the unionist government of Ireland, has adopted a militant attitude, Sinn Fein delegates believe he will be more conciliatory after he has conferred with Premier Lloyd George.

The formal sessions of the conference will be resumed later in the week. In the meantime various committees are busy.

TROOPS TO REMAIN

WASHINGTON, Va., Oct. 19.—The American troops on the Rhine will not immediately be withdrawn as a result of the ratification of the German peace treaty, it was learned here today.

Members of President Harding's party asked concerning the prospect of the Rhine troops coming home. Secretary of War Baker said: "It is a matter for the state department to decide, but if I were predicting, I would predict that the American flag will continue to fly on the Rhine for some time yet."

Allied Unions

Employees and train service men have emphasized as highest importance. One of them is the question of time and another is the cancellation of existing rules and working conditions. Labor leader, especially those affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have insisted that the matter of pay for overtime work and the code of working regulations constitute the real bone of contention in the railroad labor controversy.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19

The United States railway labor board, storm center of the wage controversy which threatens to paralyze the nation's transportation, is about to go on trial for its life.

Inhabitants of its members to emerge victorious from the anti-strike negotiations which open in Chicago Thursday with chiefs of the "big four" brotherhoods will mark the launching of a concerted drive in congress for the abolition of the board according to the opinion expressed today by Senator Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee and author of the law which created the wage fixing board.

Open defiance of the labor board and repudiation of its decisions by both railroad executives and labor organizations has led Senator Cummins to the conclusion that immediate and drastic changes in the board's legal machinery will be imperative if the impending conference result in failure.

Postpone Meeting CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—A conference of leaders of the big four railroad brotherhoods scheduled for this morning was postponed until afternoon, owing to the failure of T. P. Cullen, head of the switchmen's union to arrive in the city. It was stated that L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors would not come on for the meeting but that the real "war council" of the union leaders would be held in Chicago tomorrow morning prior to their meeting with the railway labor board.

FORMER RIDGEVILLE MAN PASSES AWAY

Friends at Ridgeville have learned of the death of Gaylord Perin, 48, at Green Springs, Ohio. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Perin, Ridgeville, and lived there many years. He is survived by his wife, a sister Mrs. Owen and a brother Cecil. Funeral services at the home in Green Springs on Friday afternoon.

popular government which we have since conducted.

"One seeks in vain for a parallel to this campaign, and the importance of the victory to contend colonies long since has been surpassed by its importance to the world because its peace of victory is the morning song at the dawn of a new era in freedom and security in popular government."

"We must not claim for the new world, certainly not for our colonies alone all the liberal thought of a century and a half ago. There were liberal views and attitudes in England and a passionate devotion to more liberal democracy in France. The triumph of freedom in the American colonies greatly strengthened liberal ideas in the old world, and liberal and grown dominant, brought Great Britain and America to a policy of accommodation and peace adjustment for all our differences. There has been honorable and unbroken peace for more than a century we came to recognize sacrifice and unselfish devotion in the world war and a future breach of our peaceful and friendly relations is unthinkable. In the trustworthiness of preserving civilization we were naturally arrayed against the barbarians and a civilization of that order of preservation will wait peace and warm against a conflict for all time to come."

Has Same Lesson.

Our thoughts have been concerned with those events which made history on the scale of a world war. The lesson of the world war is the lesson of real interdependence among the nations which lead civilization.

"In our great crisis nearly a century ago France came to our aid and made our independence possible. In her supremely anxious hour she gladly went to her support and did our part to secure her liberty. A great republic fulfilled an obligation when the passing generations had not doubted."

Reflecting today on the inevitability of our participation, on our ties of kinship, friendship and fellowship and appraising anew the day of the world—God's good world—we must share the aspirations to realize the noblest ideal for mankind there is a fresh hungering for understanding a new call for cooperation a clear conviction of purposes and decisions and loyalties not limited to territories nor national boundaries. As the future successful citizen is both inspired and exhorted to the community of his growth to assist the fortunate and successful nations help the world to the high and nobler levels of accomplishment. Here at Yorktown was sealed the charter of the new and freer American, but in the charter was written the national liberalism of the maturing 18th century crying out from both continents.

"Shall mankind, then go on yet for generations, for centuries knowing but refusing to be guided by these things? Not if conscience and reason are properly asserted and reason must be recognized as essential co-operation among nations, devoted each of them in its own peculiar national way to the common good, the progress the advance of all human kind. Let us hope that we stand at the dawn of a new day in which our nation shall be stronger for contribution to the world's betterment because each will feel the assurance of common purposes and united aspiration and the security of a common devotion to the ends of peace and civilization."

RAISIN JACK MAKER SEEKS FREEDOM BY HABEAS CORPUS

Judge Thompson has a knotty question to decide and acknowledges that he is up against it as he has two court decisions of equal standing that are diametrically opposed to each other as his guide.
The question came up over habeas corpus proceedings brought by Tony Gaski, who says he is an indigent person. Gaski is one of the men arrested in Brownhelm, while making moonshine whisky, and who received a sentence of $500 and costs. He was unable to tence was imposed.

His attorney brought the proceedings to compel the auditor to release him. It is discretionary with him to take such action but he is not supposed to abuse his discretion. It was argued that his sentence would keep him in jail four years at 60c a day if he was unable to pay. The attorney stated that the best interest of the people would be served by releasing him as the county has to pay

ALTERATIONS MADE IN STATE HUNTING LAWS
A C Baxter, chief of the fish and game division is urging all hunters and trappers to obtain copies of the new fish and game laws and to ignore the laws printed on the back of hunters' and trappers' licenses, now being issued, were printed. Attention is called in particular to Section 1398
the law on fur bearing animals, in which a complete change was made.
The fact that a hunter or trapper follows the law on the back of the license will not excuse him if he violates the provisions, Baxter advises, as game law booklets can be secured free from all game protectors, township and village clerks, clerks of courts and from the Columbus office. It was necessary to have the hunters' and trappers' licenses printed before January 1st as new licenses are required on that date each year. The legislature passed the new

Anniversary Celebration

BEGINS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 20-31

26TH

Ten days will be devoted to this 26th Anniversary Celebration in which we shall endeavor to express our appreciation to the people of Elyria and community, who, by their patronage have made possible the progress of this business. It was early in the history of this store that we began to close partnership with the public, a partnership that insisted upon—principles of fair dealing based on foundation, stories of truth, courtesy, liberality, value. We have come to a milestone in the history of this business—the twenty-sixth year of successful storekeeping. We deem it advisable at this time to celebrate the event by placing particular emphasis on desirable merchandise at lower prices. Each day will be filled with buying interest.

FREE TICKETS!

With every purchase at this store during our 26th Anniversary Celebration

You receive a ticket which entitles the holder to a chance on the following list of valuable prizes. One of these prizes to be drawn each day of our Anniversary Celebration at 5 P. M.

This drawing is open to everybody—man, woman or child within a radius of 50 miles.

MARRIAGE PROBLEMS

iddle Garrison's New Phase of Relations of a Wife

by Eleanor Rundle "Gave Thanks."

She bowed, at Lilian's side, as she turned and walked swiftly back to the door of the art gallery. Robert Savarin proffered his hand to Lilian to help her into the car.

"That saffron chap on the front steps," she said, "was the only possible connection upon this performance." He said, "Pardon me, but your aid to her is," and then, with a whisper which carried further than he knew, I heard him add:

"Dear heart, you must not spend yourself so far there."

Utterly exhausted.

I saw her face brighten at the whispered words, and I was as glad at the sight as I could be for the indignation which was mine against the rudeness, the callous taking for granted of Lilian's compassion, which Mrs. Rundle had exhibited. And I knew that even though Robert Savarin, an artist, in his stinct could not regret the recognition he had obtained for Eleanor Rundle's work, yet he bitterly resented her cavalier behavior to the woman he adored.

That the incident had cast a shadow over our little trip I was only too clearly so I cast about for something which would divert them. Remembering a banal, oft-quoted sentence, I drew it out.

"Well, the more I see of Art, the better I love Macheer." I tried to give it the appropriate pronunciation and was rewarded by a chuckle from Robert Savarin, a swift smile from Lilian.

"Art's Macheer wonderful anyway," she countered in her own inimitable drawl, and then we all laughed heartily, as people under a strain invariably do at the silliest things, and I knew that the incident had lessened and that Mrs. Rundle had been released to her proper negligible place in Lilian's memories.

We drove on through the beauty that is the Hudson river valley to historic Pakenburg, following the way to the foot of the mountain at which we expected to meet Dicky, Bess Dean and one of the two Congrove boys. But we were evidently too early, for there was no sign of them when we drew up at the beginning of the road winding up the mountain. Robert Savarin turned off the switch, and for ten minutes we sat quietly enjoying the contrast between the tranquil cultivated fields of the country around us and the glimpses of wild, almost primeval undergrowth the mountain road afforded.

And then we uttered a simultaneous exclamation of apprehension and dismay, for around a curve in the mountain road there suddenly appeared two men, Dicky and Ted Congrove, supporting between them, almost carrying, a tottering, swaying, apparently exhausted woman, whom I had hard work to recognize as Bess Dean.

Society Matron Opens Shop

Mrs. Richard Peabody

Real happiness is not to be found in attending teas and dances. Doing honest work is the sum of all happiness. These sentiments have inspired Mrs. Richard Peabody, popular members of New York society to enter the business world by opening a gown shop in New York. Mrs. Peabody is the latest of several well-known society women to "enter the trade."

WHAT MEDICAL AUTHORITY SAYS OF NERV-WORTH INGREDIENTS

In Taking Medicine, You Naturally Want to Know What It Is. It is of Value Here Are the Facts. Read Them.

Nerv Worth is made after a formula which has proved by test to be most successful in producing results in the cases for which it is intended. It is not a cure-all but recommended for nervous troubles, stomach disorders, and a general run down condition. Of course, at the same time, it is also a diuretic, due to these disorders are usually found hand in hand with them are benefited. The ingredients used in Nerv Worth are of various kinds but it contains no coal tar products, opiates, harmful drugs, or nauseating oils. It contains extracts of roots and plants, and other ingredients which are considered of very high value by the medical world. The United States Dispensary, one of the standards of the medical and pharmaceutical professions, and which quotes standards to which medicines should conform, says in substance of various Nerv Worth ingredients as follows:

Of one ingredient. The medical properties of this root are peculiar and valuable. It is a TONIC and STOMACHIC and is invigorating to the process of digestion, hence its use in dyspepsia. When the stomach is enfeebled at the same time that a gentle cathartic is required, it is a rule is preferable to all others.

Of another ingredient the same authority writes in substance: "It is stimulating and carminative, is used in nausea, spasmodic pains in the stomach and bowels and is a corrector or adjuvant of other medicines. In neuralgia it is said to have been in use from time immemorial. (Note—Neuralgia is a nervous affliction.) In RHEUMATISM it is also a very useful and dyne."

Of still another ingredient, the same authority. In acute disease associated with DEBILITY, it is often an invaluable remedy. Of all medicines it is one most frequently employed. It favors digestion by its local effects upon the stomach and also by stimulating the NERVE and arterial centers.

And of still another ingredient. It is a remedy of great importance. By its bulk and solvent powers it allays irritation by diluting the acid contents of the stomach and bowels, and by its absorption it promotes cutaneous transpiration.

And of another ingredient. It is nearly equivalent starch in nutritive value by its gelatin largely ADDING TO FATTY TISSUES of the body.

There is still another ingredient in Nerv Worth which is a generalizing agent, acting against excess stomach acids, uric acid and other acids which accumulate throughout the system. It has been a medical stand-by for years. You can readily see that a medicine containing such ingredients must have merit, and these ingredients are combined in the Nerv Worth formula so that they will give maximum results, for results are what everyone wants. Sold by C. W. Phillips and all leading druggists everywhere.

Nerv-Worth is now $1.00 per bottle.—Advt.

over the quotations made over a month ago.

In checking up our stock of sheetings, we find we have a little surplus quantity of Pillow Tubings, in the well known standard brands of Androscoggin, Pepperell, and Continental. To reduce this surplus stock, we will make special prices on these goods, as follows:—

42 inch Pepperell Pillow Tubings at	32c a Yd.
45 inch Pepperell Pillow Tubings at	34c a Yd.
42 inch Androscoggin Pillow Tubings at	34c a Yd.
45 inch Androscoggin Pillow Tubings at	36c a Yd.
45 inch Continental Pillow Tubings at	38c a Yd.

These prices are extraordinarily low, and quotations are for our Retail customers, only. Goods will be withdrawn from sale at these prices, as soon as our surplus has been sold.

Oberlin Dramatic Club Gets Invite

OBERLIN, Oct. 19.—The Dramatic association has received an invitation from the director of Thimble theater in Cleveland to give a one-act play with the Cleveland Oberlin Alumni present by invitation. The Western Reserve Dramatic association is producing its plays this year in the same theater. The Oberlin and Reserve clubs are considering exchanging programs.

The following was contributed by an attorney of the city for publication in the Public Forum column. Owing to its length and political significance just at this time and the number of people running for the same office, it was felt that we would hardly be justified in printing it in the Public Forum column. It was insisted, however, that it be printed, and is run as a paid advertisement.—Editor.

OUR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE OFFICE

Some of Elyria are to be congratulated upon having attained for the office of Justice of the Peace who is a man C. Conaway—the last one of six candidates to be honored and respected attorney and member of the bar for over 20 years. Attorneys and business men requested him to offer himself for the office. He indorsement and approval of nearly every member. Leading citizens and business people, both men and women have also sanctioned his name.

He is a well read and thorough student of the law, and his practice and procedure, and possesses one of the best law libraries in the county. Without intending any one, it may be said that there could be no better person for the office of Justice of the Peace than that offered by Mr. Conaway.

It is remembered that the office is essentially judicial. It is the administration of laws. Court officials from the Supreme Court are the administrators of the laws of the subject before just and intelligent disposition made or expected.

Deeds are the public managers of our legal rights, and controversies involving legal rights and duties, when referred to a person to a judicial office does not involve any knowledge of the statutes and laws which have been made. History is full of the mistakes of blind leaders made of legal rights and duties by ignorant men made of law. Who can better correctly administer who by learning and profession knows the law? Affairs we seek the help and guidance of the qualified person. The rule also works with public affairs.

Decisions of a justice court are as binding and as final as the decisions of the Supreme Court, and all the executive power from constable and sheriff to the militia are as available as the orders from a justice court as for the orders of a higher court.

It is essential parts of the machinery and procedure in many important cases start and go through a justice court before they reach the higher courts. It is the preliminary and adjudication. Vital issues are often made of legal rights and duties, of course, to be carried on to further proceedings.

The majority of the state criminal cases which reach the higher courts have their start in a magistrate's office and he first decides whether under the law a crime has been committed and if the accused is probably guilty. While many cases, both civil and criminal, must abide the judgment of the justice, as his decision is final and not appealable whether right or wrong.

Fines as in liquor cases may be imposed by him to the limit of $1000.00 and civil judgments rendered up to $300. Imprisonment may be given for non-payment of fines or failure to carry out other orders such as relates to the support of children, dependents, humane society cases, game laws, etc.

Jurisdiction is coextensive with the county in attachment, eviction and other class of cases. A justice of the peace of Elyria has power of execution under the forcible entry and detention laws in proper complaint to dispossess the National Tube Co. or any other person or person anywhere in Lorain county from occupancy of real property, plant, buildings and lands, and the militia is ready at call to enforce his judgment if necessary.

These judicial functions require the understanding and application of law of the rules of evidence, the sifting of truth from suspicion, safeguarding the rights and authority of the state which demands enforcement of the constitution and statutes and safeguarding the legal rights of the individuals. Contending counsel may easily confuse or befog the mind not familiar with the field of law.

Great expense and costs to the taxpayers as well as irreparable loss to reputation has often been committed through ignorance of the law in the early stages of the legal proceedings. It is legal tenders all along the line in various fields that is a fruitful cause of increased taxation. Costly mistakes enough are made even by those supposedly learned in the law without inviting more by refusing to take the most simple precaution.

It is to be remembered that no salary attaches to the Justice office—as the litigants pay the statutory fees in connection with the transaction of business through the office.

Furthermore, the election of a lawyer to the office of Justice of the Peace is the one thing that is going to prevent this community from otherwise soon having saddled upon it the luxury of a Municipal Court, with all its accessory barnacles, as a permanent salaried institution.

If we want a brand new outfit of at least seven salaried positions to start with besides the outfit costs of their furniture, records, paraphernalia with office rents, telephones, up-keep, etc., and eventually a new municipal court building to suitably house the growing law court family, then, the best and quickest way to get it is to return to have at least one properly trained legal mind here in the judicial office of Justice of the Peace.

A LAWYER.

The Ku Klux Klan was said to comprise 800,000 members. The Supreme Wizard Simmons says it has 90,000. It was stated there were millions of profit received by the leaders for the sale of paraphernalia and a great amount of graft for membership fees. The Wizard says that two thirds of them have no paraphernalia, and those who have gotten them can get them from different places, and they can get them from wherever they choose.

The reports in the daily press recite the outrages committed by the Ku Kluxers, and have given in detail the stories of parades in different cities, in one of which they came in collision with and injured the sheriff by shooting. The Supreme Wizard says these stories are buncombe, that a man is suspended from the order who violates law and that these outrages have not been committed according to reports by Ku Kluxers.

The Wizard insists that the Ku Kluxers are simply a group of the best Sunday School boys, who in behaviour and character are raised to the n'th power. The only criticism that the Wizard would suggest that might be brought on this Ku Klux, white necktie, Sunday School bunch, is that they are not really missionary in their spirit. They will not permit negroes, Jews, or Catholics to join with them. We are so sorry for these three who have been left out. Just think what they are missing.

But what we would like to know is whether all men are liars in this country except Simmons the Wizard.

We are going to page Diogenes and tell him to bring his high powered lantern. The honest man must be found.

LABOR UNION HONOR

The national body of the United Mine Workers has suspended the district officers who ordered a strike in contempt of the laws and courts in Kansas and of the orders of the union. President Lewis explains that the action is taken because the strike was in violation of the contract between the miners and their employers in Kansas by individuals lacking in respect for the honor of their organization or the principles of fair dealing among men. That is honest unionism. Yet President Lewis finds his action condemned within the union which he heads. The Kansas miners are split into two bodies, and the disaffection is spreading to adjoining districts. Lewis's presidential rival, Farrington, denounces Lewis's "arrogance" and proclaims an intention to organize a rival miners' organization. The miners of Farrington's Illinois district are said to have contributed $100,000 in support of Howat's strike against the Kansas Industrial Court law, and the dispute may split the strongest union in the country.

The nominal dispute in which Howat martyred himself concerns a single individual on an issue too trivial to detail, and has been decided by the Industrial Court in favor of the miner. The real issue is the wrecking of the law or of the United Mine Workers. The union can not afford to wreck itself on an issue without merit. It has on its hands an issue for which it needs all its strength. Lewis contends that a contract binds both sides. The doctrine which he sustains in Kansas binds the operators to continue payment of coal miners' wages through the winter and throughout the country. If the union splits over the Kansas contract, it risks the national contract which now hangs in the balance. Lewis may rejoice that his rivals have raised an issue of the Kansas sort. Friends of the better sort of unionism must wish him a good deliverance from his present troubles.—N. Y. Times.

THREE CLASSES OF FOOTBALL TEAMS

John Heisman, now coach at the University of Pennsylvania, last year at Georgia Tech., and who 25 years ago whipped the Oberlin team into shape where they beat Michigan, suggests that football teams should be divided into heavyweight, middleweight and lightweight teams, as are the fighters. It isn't so bad in theory and in a college or university which has several thousand students they could probably have a team representing each particular class but in a college the size of Oberlin, Ohio Wesleyan, there is hardly the number to get teams which would make football interesting. It isn't enough to work out one.

Have you seen men playing, at that, whom we felt out because of their weight, and they were out before we would have dared play

ABE MARTIN

Watchman Joe Mapes describes the "bandit" that stole four barrels of elderberry wine from the jail, last night, as being of medium height, light gray $2 hair, tiny scar under chin, half parted on left side, turban, a tan leather biffold, light blue eyes and a small spot on his vest. We should think that one of the worst things about "gitting" in trouble would be havin' an ole discarded wife show up at th' jail.

SAYS OPEN FORUM SPEAKER

The first meeting of the open forum which was held in Machine hall last evening was attended by a fair sized audience of ladies and gentlemen, who were highly entertained by an address by Edward Blythen, an attorney of Cleveland, who took for his subject "Backward or Forward?"

He told his audience that they must not think that all of the world's work is antagonistic to them, for there is danger of such a view, and sight is lost of greater events that are making history. When we look toward antagonism we are looking toward the setting sun. Instead we should look to the future for our destiny is to be formed by so doing. As a race the people are living at a turning point in history, he believed.

Living today is worth three times what it was ten years ago, said the speaker. Civilization has been built up such as the world has never seen. The great war came and tested our civilization to its depth. The close observer knows that nature is always in conflict, in fact there is conflict everywhere and the life of the human is no exception. Every great movement has come about through conflict.

"What about commerce?" he asked. "Every war has resulted in the extension of commerce. Oceans have been crossed and lands discovered and developed by it, until distance has become as nothing. In every war commerce has been involved. Industry has also sprung up and has encompassed the world. No limit can be set on political and social life, and no limit can be set on the sufferings of the people of the world. Wars have made friends, not enemies. At the peace table England was for England, and France for France, but President Wilson was the only one who went to the peace
